REMARKS.

SOURCE

1. A Soviet ordnance and equipment depot was located in the former "Fuhrmann & Soehne" hardware factory, JESSEN (N 52/E 56).
2. About 350 Germans of both sexes were employed in cleaning and greasing field guns, infantry guns, antitank guns, rocket launchers, machine guns, rifles, submachine guns, pistols, sighting mechanisms and other optical equipment.
3. A civilian reported 150 to 180 infantry guns to be stored in one of the warehouses.
4. Twelve to fifteen hundred officers and EM of an ordnance school were allegedly quartered in the nearby cantonment buildings and in JESSEN houses. Small groups of EM and NCOs were seen to be instructed by officers on weapons and laying and sight equipment. Personnel adjusting guns and other weapons were also observed.
5. About 65 NCOs, led by a first lieutenant, were observed marching to a depot section. All NCOs wore red epaulets with the crossed-gun barrel insignia.
6. The following motor vehicles were identified at the depot entrance:
